1. In late October passenger trains from Mukden to Tientsin were crowded with women and children. According to orders dependents of technicians, sent to Manchuria since 1949 were to be evacuated first, but the technicians themselves are not yet permitted to leave. Railway employees state that the evacuation of other civilians is now underway.
2. Many persons who migrated to Manchuria prior to October still have meager jobs and those who are still unemployed are being forced to return to China proper.
3. The recent influx of Manchuria evacuees to Shanghai is causing a rapid rise in the cost of buying leases for housing and a general feeling of insecurity.
